VOL. XIII.--NO. 161. PORTLAND, OREGON: MONDAY, AUGUST 11, 1873. PRICE--TEN CENTS.

EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Fearful River Disaster.

VICKSBURG, Va., August 8.—The steamer Wawassett, running on the Potomac river between Washington and Curryman, took fire at noon to-day at Chattalon landing, and was destroyed. She had about 150 passengers. Between 40 and 50 lives were lost. Six bodies had been found up to 2 o'clock—three white ladies, one white child and two colored children. Miss Virginia Warburg, of Glymont, and Miss Bettie Saunders and child, from Curryman, are among the dead. The others have not been recognized. George W. Cook, of Warsaw, Virginia, is missing. Captain Wood did not leave the boat until forced to do so by the flames.

NEW YORK, August 9.—A special from Washington says the best information obtainable, shows that the number of lives lost by the burning of the steamer Wawassett is probably not over twenty. There is no wharf at Chattalon Point where the steamer burned, and landing is made by use of small boats. One of these was being unshipped for this purpose when the cry of fire was heard, and the flames came with such force that a panic ensued at once. The passengers made a rush for the boat that was being lowered, crowding it full, when the tackling broke, or it became unhitched, and all were precipitated into the river. The terror-stricken passengers were forced by the flames to jump overboard, and the crew threw life preservers to them. The people on shore did all they could to assist in saving life, but their means of rescue were unequal to the terrible calamity.

Fearful Particulars of the Great Fire.

PORTLAND, Me., August 9.—The insurance amounts to $500,000, and it may be more. All the buildings on the Galt wharf were owned by a grain company, or Mr. Galt, and were leased to the Grand Trunk Railroad Company, who underlet them to the Maine Steamship Company. The loss in New York freight on the Galt wharf is unknown. The buildings on the Atlantic wharf were not valuable. The loss on Boston freight is not ascertained. The insurance amounts to $90,000. The Steam Packet Company lose 1,000 tons of coal valued at $7,000; insurance $5,000. The company lost 100 cords of wood also.

Great Fire in Portland, Maine.

BOSTON, August 9.—A special from Portland, Maine, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, says a large fire is raging at the wharf. The steamer Dirigo has been burned to the water's edge, and other boats are in great danger. The sheds of the New York steamers are all burned. A dispatch dated 2:15 o'clock this afternoon, says the steamer Montreal is burned. A dispatch dated 2:30, P. M., says that the fire is spreading rapidly. All of the Galt and Atlantic wharves are burned. The wind is from the west, and the fire may keep off shore. The steamers Dirigo, Montreal and Chase are burning in the stream.

LATER.—The Portland fire has spread to the freight sheds of the Boston steamers and burned the elevator on Galt's wharf, with several thousand bushels of grain. Most of the freight in the freight sheds was got out. Five hundred tons of coal on Galt's wharf are also burning. The freight depot of the Grand Trunk Railroad has just caught on fire. The building of Benham & Merrill, packing company, is gone. One woman is known to have been drowned, and others reported to be drowned. Saco and Biddeford have been telegraphed for aid.

A later dispatch says the fire is fully under control. The Grand Trunk Railroad depot is safe.

Murderer Hanged.

NEW YORK, August 9.—Chas. Jones was hanged at Newbern, N. C., yesterday, for the murder of Robert Miller, Constable, February 1, 1872, while Miller, with two others, was conveying Jones to prison on the charge of larceny. Jones was over 80 years of age.

A Huge Railway Combination.

NEW YORK, August 9.—A new combination n the Atlantic and Pacific R. R. Co. to-day, is the result of a trip from which J. Edgar Thompson, President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, has just returned, in which he went over the completed portion of the road to Venita, Indian Territory, the point of juncture of the Atlantic and Pacific road with the Missouri, Kansas and Texas road. Mr. Scott, the new President, is now in Europe on business connected with the foreign debt of the Texas and Pacific road, but will probably return immediately upon receiving notification of the new arrangement. The Directory is now composed of some of the heaviest railroad men in the East—Mr. Thompson, Mr. Scott, and Mr. Solomon, of the Pennsylvania Central. The latter is financial agent of that Company. Alfred T. Devine is President of the united railroads of New Jersey, and the New York connection of the Pennsylvania Central. Besides these, General Fisk, the new Treasurer, states that a number of heavy capitalists of other railroads have taken large interests in the Atlantic and Pacific. In consequence of this combination, the line of the Texas Pacific road will probably be deflected northward, and form a connection with the 35th parallel road at a point between Albuquerque, New Mexico, and the southern line of that Territory, thence westward, both roads to use the present located route on the thirty-fifth parallel to the Pacific Coast. Upon Mr. Scott's return, the construction of the road will again be pushed forward rapidly.

NEW YORK, August 9.—Michael Jordon, a seaman on the ship Hamilton Fish has been held for examination on a charge of stabbing John Alcs, first mate, during a voyage from this port to Liverpool.

Assassination in Mississippi.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., August 9.—Dr. R. T. Dunn, Deputy Marshal, was assassinated at Corinth, Miss., last night, by an unknown villain who shot him with a gun through a window as he lay asleep in bed. There is no clue to the murderer.

More Slaughter.

ST. LOUIS, August 9.—Thursday morning last, near Percival Station, Iowa, Thos. Woodson, a nephew of Gov. Woodson of this State, instantly killed Wm. Barlow of Nebraska, who had left home the day before, armed with the avowed purpose of killing Woodson, which intention he repeated at Percival. Woodson received information of Barlow's purpose and arming himself secreted himself by the roadside near his house and as his would-be assassin approached fired and killed him.

Reported Spanish Victories.

NEW YORK, August 9.—It is reported in Spanish circles in this city that telegrams from Havana were received yesterday by a Spanish commercial house, and by a high Spanish functionary in this country, to the effect that General Portillo, at the head of 300 men, had routed and captured Cienfuegos without a shot being fired, and that they had proclaimed Don Carlos King of Spain. Many leading Spaniards in Havana, including generals in the army, colonels of volunteers, Jesuits, and several of the leading slave traders of the island, are said to be conspirators with General Portillo for the overthrow of the Republican Government of Spain.

The "Alabama" Safe.

NEW YORK, August 8.—The agents of the State line of steamers in this city have received the following dispatch from Glasgow with reference to the reported loss of the Alabama: "Look for Alabama on the 18th. Report unfounded."

Missing Steamer.

Cable Recovered.

LONDON, August 9. A rumor is current that the Great Eastern has recovered the cable of 1865.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 9.—Daniel Linnehan was before the Police Court to-day for examination on a charge of rape on the person of Mrs. Ansbro, wife of the private detective Ansbro. She testified that the prisoner came to her house and brought a bottle of liquor, that she drank some and became powerless, that he then put the children out of the parlor, shut the door, and after a long struggle in which furniture was broken and her body and limbs severely bruised, accomplished his purpose. He attempted a repetition of the outrage in the very presence of the children, but one of them gave her a club with which she beat him off. The examination will be concluded this afternoon.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 9.—The examination of Daniel J. Linnehan for the rape of Mrs. Thomas Ansbro was concluded and defendant was discharged from custody. Mrs. Ansbro was ordered to appear for sentence for assault and battery on him.

Levi Knowles stabbed Frederick French in a saloon on Serpentine avenue, during a fight, inflicting serious wounds. He escaped but was arrested to-day on board the ship Grace Darling. French was taken to the hospital.

An unknown colored man was brought to the station house this afternoon. He had remained about an hour when he was found dead on the floor of the cell.

Lands W. Foreman, Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, has resigned his position.

The Taxpayers nominated James Otis for mayor last night. A row occurred in the Democratic camp over the action of the County Convention last night in fixing up the legislative slate. It was openly alleged that Billy Carr bought his men in Convention for $30,000. It is rumored that an effort will be made to bring fourteen of that body before the courts on a charge of bribery, also that appeal will be made to the Municipal Convention to make legislative nominations. There is much excitement and indignation amongst Democrats at the entire proceedings.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 9.—It has been ascertained that the name of the colored man who died in the city hall to-day was Levy, and that he committed suicide by taking laudanum.

The Mission woolen mills was damaged by fire to the extent of about $300. No alarm was given. It was put out by the employes.

The city is quiet to-night, only three or four arrests for minor offences.

The indignation meeting called to-night by minority members of the Democratic County Convention to protest against the attempts of agents of the Central Pacific Railroad to control elections to the Legislature was postponed till Monday night.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 10.—An alarm of fire from the City Hall station, to-night, startled our people, and hundreds rushed hurriedly to the place to find an old pawnbroker smoking out his rubbish in a shop near the Hall.

Patrick Bugen was arrested to-day for stabbing H. Garcia. The wounds inflicted are not considered dangerous.

Buislay fell from the trapeze to-day at Woodward's Gardens, a distance of about thirty feet. The netting broke his fall, and he was not badly hurt.

A grand Democratic mass meeting is to be held to-morrow night, to enter an indignant protest against the recent action of the County Committee.

Interior California.

VALLEJO, August 9.—The body of the man found drowned yesterday has not been identified. He was buried to-day.

A man named Kennely, laborer, was taken to Fairfield this morning there to be examined before a commission touching his sanity.

STOCKTON, August 9.—The speed programme of the 13th annual Fair of the San Joaquin Valley Agricultural Society was issued to-day. Purses amounting to $3,000 are offered, and the premium list is well arranged.

The grand Turner festival will be held at the City Gardens to-morrow. The affair promises to be of more than ordinary interest. Many members of the Turn Verein associations of other cities are expected to be present at the exercises.

The movement of wheat to this port is larger now than usual, during the present season, and though prices rule higher than at a corresponding date last year, cargoes are selling, and many are predicting a still further advance. Prices range to-day from $1 73 to $1 80.

At the pigeon shooting match to-day between Chas. Smith and Jas. Sharp for $250, (thirty birds) was won by Sharp, he killing 27 birds to Smith's 26. Smith offered to shoot the match over again for $300 to $500 a side providing he be allowed the privilege of using his own gun in the match.

SAN DIEGO, August 9.—The Democratic County Convention made nominations to-day.

The Texas and Pacific have graded four miles of their road ready for tieing.

Seventeen buildings are in process of construction in various parts of the city. Thirty-two deeds were recorded last week, and many of the considerations are high figures.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Homeless.

LACONNER, August 10.—Yesterday the residence of Benj. Welcher on the Swinomish, with all its contents, including $60 in currency, was entirely consumed by fire, which leaves him homeless and nearly naked. The fire originated while Mr. Welcher, was at work in a field, from embers left in the fireplace.

GENERAL NOTES.

A dead Chicago man has had a five-ton monument erected to his memory by his widow.

The postoffices at Louisville and Covington, Ky., are both under the charge of women.

A young man at Vermillion, Ind., who shot a young lady for fun has settled by the payment of $500.

A girl in Bayfield, Ill., was lately frightened to death by feeling hot breath on her face and finding a rattlesnake by her side.

The friends of a man in St Johnsbury, Vt., were so indignant at his getting drunk that they placed him in a coffin and left him there until he got sober enough to roll out.

Emigration from Russia to America is increasing. Four hundred Russians sailed, August 6th, in one steamer. The movement threatens to depopulate some districts in Russia.

The consecration of the Right Rev. Bishop Mora as coadjutor of the Bishop of the Los Angeles Diocese, took place Sunday morning August 3d. Archbishop Alemany, Bishop Amat and Bishop O'Conor were present.

The Butte county Record says of the fire in the mountains in that county: "The country has been burned over for miles and miles and a great deal of timber has been destroyed. The track of the fire is marked with fallen trees and the gorges are filled with smoke."

Robert S. Chew, Chief Clerk of the State Department who was struck with paralysis a week ago, died at an early hour yesterday morning. Chew was appointed to the Clerkship in the State Department from Virginia, and had been employed for nearly forty years in that Department of the Government.

Joseph C. Cloud, who is rowing from Philadelphia to New Orleans, arrived in Pittsburg on the 6th inst. He was very tired and sleepy when he reached that city, and immediately after went asleep in his little boat. He was to leave on the same day. He is a man of magnificent physique, tall and well proportioned of strong, well-knit frame, and large, bony hands. He wears a mustache and goatee, with small whiskers; is in a sailor costume, with blue shirt, pantaloons and cap. He looks like a man who would carry out anything he had set his mind upon. He complains of the way he was detained at different locks along the canal, and he intends rowing 25 miles a day until he reaches Cairo, a distance of 1,000 miles in forty days, and from Cairo to New Orleans, a distance of 1,200 miles, in about forty-eight days. He has contracted to row the whole distance in 115 days, and has plenty of time to do it in. His skiff is one of the kind known as a double-ender, and weighs 60 pounds. It is of shapely build, and is adapted for rapid and easy rowing. It is 15½ feet in length, with 3 feet 8 inches breadth of beam. If he reaches New Orleans at the promised time he will be $2,000 richer than when he started.

THIRD OPEN LETTER TO H. W. SCOTT.

MY DEAR BOY: Your last open letter to me shows signs of moral disease still existing. Yet I can trace in it some faint indications of a lucid interval of returning reason. In speaking of the charge you made that I refused to address a Republican meeting, you say "this perhaps is a small matter and of little interest now to any one." In this we agree. I presume the public are not at all interested in this controversy, only just so far as it furnishes cumulative evidence of your malady. I thought you made a mistake and acted very foolishly when you commenced your flouts at an old friend who had always taken a lively interest in your welfare, and who, after you had departed from what he conceived to be the right course, refrained as far as possible from saying anything against you. If you had been wise or maintained your former self-respect, you would not have uttered many things that are found in your letters. You have made nothing personally, but subjected yourself to the ridicule of those who know us both and the relations that existed between us for a number of years. You say that I "simply mistake facts;" that my "memory doubtless is treacherous." Not at all, my dear boy; my memory is very good. I have a very vivid recollection of what occurred in relation to the politics of 1866. You are very ingenious, and disingenuous, too, in your style of writing. While you say I "mistake facts" you do not directly deny that you advised me to keep away from that meeting. I know you joined others in writing me to come to Portland and address that meeting, but you omit to state the fact that I called your attention to the equivocal character of your letter, and the reply you made. I made no mention of that in my letter, nor will I say any more now, for reasons that ought to be entirely satisfactory to yourself. I know nothing of what you wrote to Mr. Hare, nor do I care to know. Knowing as I do the estimation in which you held him at that time, and the not very friendly relations between Mr. Hare and myself, the idea that you would write and instruct him what to say to me is the most laughable thing you have said yet. I have no disposition to drag Mr. Hare into this controversy or to revive that "little unpleasantness" that once subsisted between us three. It will do you no good. Better not do it. Still, my dear boy, if with all your ability as a writer you are not capable of annihilating so small a specimen of intellectuality as myself, or to extinguish that "very little candle" that once sufficed to light up the dark abodes of that miniature Athens where you received your education, why call Mr. Hare to your aid, and the public shall know to what extent you have confided in your own witness, even as late as since the Convention that placed him upon the electoral ticket. There are too many living witnesses on that point, to make it pleasant. But the question is not what you wrote to Mr. Hare, but what you said to me. You may have wished me to come when you wrote, but there are certain reasons for believing that you did not. Yet soon after I arrived you called upon me at the hotel, and after learning that I would be asked if I approved of the conduct of J. H. Mitchell, and after a somewhat extended conversation with you as to the effect my speaking would have under the then existing circumstances, I put this question to you: "Scott, what had I better do in the matter?" and you made this pointed reply: "Why, just take your umbrella and go to a private house and stay, for I do not want you to speak." And I repaired to the house of H. W. Davis and stayed during the night. Now don't deny this argumentatively, but just say that it is or is not true. I am a little anxious on this point. I was not only advised by you, but on my way to this city I met a great big "candle" of Washington county, who advised me not to speak. I would give his name, but while I do not believe that he would deny it, yet, after all you have said, I am a little afraid that he too may have acquired a little of that "breadth," and may "have felt the force and growth of more liberal ideas." You deny the statement that you wrote an article denouncing the proceedings of that Convention as a fraud. I may have misunderstood my informant; perhaps I did. I will intentionally do no one injustice. You have an undoubted right to the benefit of your denial; yet when I remember the very close friendship that existed between us for so many years, the exalted opinion you professed to have of me during all these years of friendship, the many times you chided and upbraided me for my unselfish disposition, my "self-abnegation," my disposition to work for others rather than myself, your wanting me to work for myself and for a seat in the U. S. Senate, for a place in the lower house of Congress, your protestations that you were sincere, and were not flattering me and asking me not to suspect you of any such motives; that there have been but two occasions in my whole life that there were any possible grounds for being "sore" and but one in my life that there were any for "bolting;" and that I always supported the ticket furnished by the Republican Convention, and then when I read your letters and see how hard you labor to convince the public that I have been a chronic office-seeker for the last generation, have had frequent attacks of "sore head," gone off into "tantrums," and been ready to "bolt" (never "bolted" yet—think one might have done so in so long a time) and finally your confession in an open letter your insincerity to your own shame, that the praise you bestowed was nothing but duplicity, I will hardly be blamed or the public either, for having some misgiving in relation to the sincerity of your statement respecting the writing of that article. My dear boy, I was reared under the austere discipline of the Presbyterian Church, and when but a child had impressed upon my mind the great though oft repeated truth that "honesty is the best policy," and however much I may have departed from that precept through the course of a somewhat checkered life, the force of it and other truths ingrafted upon my tender mind, clings to me yet. Barring all considerations of moral accountability, and looking at the naked question of expediency, I believe it to be the only sound doctrine. History furnishes numerous examples of the truth of this, not only as applied to nations, but to individuals; and the history of parties in our own country furnishes instructive lessons on this point. When the venerable Adams changed the toast of a certain Commodore and made it read "My Country, may she always conquer, but whether she conquers or not, may she always be right," he expressed exalted sentiments—expressed the true doctrine. And, my dear boy, if you had "felt the force and growth" of this grand idea that "honesty is the best policy," you would not have flattered and deceived for half a generation an old and true friend and placed yourself in the unenviable position before the public in which your second letter placed you. There is nothing perhaps that renders a man so helpless, so impotent for good, as to stand before the public as unworthy of belief. You may unsheathe your sharpest literary sword, and thrust it with all your power, and yet it will not wound so deeply as to ever tempt me to say that the praise I bestowed upon you in your earlier and purer days was nothing but flattery and deception. And no amount of lampooning from your pen will ever drive me to the defense of what I conceive to be wrong. I would rather be found struggling in the minority for the right, than to be carrying upon my brow the ensign of victory, when that victory was obtained by dishonest means or by defending bad men.

In speaking of the OREGONIAN, you say "an organ of a small faction and a clique, distrusted by Republicans, courted by Democrats," &c. I am very sorry that the OREGONIAN gives you so much trouble, and its change of editors so many regrets. The interests of the Republican party demanded the change, and you should take a philosophical view of the subject and submit cheerfully. I presume I know what the sentiments of the Republican party have been and are now in relation to the OREGONIAN as well as any one, and I know that the complaint was general among the oldest Republicans that the paper had lost its Scottish tone, its Republican ring, its former independence, and that is the class who are sustaining the OREGONIAN to-day as the only reliable Republican newspaper published in the city. I do not know how true it is that it is "courted by Democrats," but if it is true, it only shows that they have a high appreciation of what constitutes a good family newspaper, and in this age of progress "have felt the force and growth of more liberal ideas." It is not at all strange that while you have an occasional accession to your faction, which I see from the Bulletin you have, that the Republican party should have many. "The small faction" of which you speak, constitutes to-day a large majority of the Republican party. You say that I think it lacked "independence, because it did not attack the masses of the Republican party." You are mistaken, it is because you did attack the masses, or rather because you let the masses and their interests "severely alone," and devoted your time and prostituted the paper to the interests of the little "ring" and the elevation of J. H. Mitchell to the U. S. Senate in opposition to the will of the masses—a man who, since his conduct in 1866, has not commanded the confidence of any considerable number of the Republicans of this State, and who, if a fair expression of the people could have been had, would have been overwhelmed. Before he came among us we had no trouble in the party. But from the time his ambition led him to override the will of the Republican party in this State, we have had no real harmony. The dissatisfaction among the masses is not because they are less ardent in their devotion to the great fundamental truths of the Republican party, but because these truths have been lost sight of, and the interests of the party disregarded, in the effort to elevate to the highest place in the gift of the State a man who has been potent only for mischief to the party since he came into the State, and who has finally, if reports be true, overwhelmed the State and the party in disgrace. It is because a little "ring"—a very small faction—essays to be the Republican party, and denounces everybody who is unwilling to wear its yoke. It is because men who have devoted their whole lives to the cause of truth and humanity and freedom have been required to step aside and give place to the mere fledgling of recent and sudden conversion to the cause—an opportune conversion, occurring just at a juncture when there was a prospect for office. It is because you have gathered around you as your advisers and coadjutors men who, when you had the welfare of the party at heart, and before you made your "departure," you denounced as unworthy of your support. It is because the most of those in your employ, and the most of those holding Federal office in the State, are men who are either recent converts of the kind just alluded to, or men who have never been much else than "bolters" and disorganizers and disturbers of the peace and harmony of the party. It is true there are a few worthy men in office, but the consistency of your Senator, and the "eternal fitness of things," demands their removal, and I presume they will soon have to retire. Neither you nor your faction, in the course you have pursued, have consulted the interests of the party. Instead of urging conciliation, it has been denunciation. If you had practiced some of those "liberal ideas" that you "have felt the force and growth" of so much of late; if you had learned to recognize as members of the body politic, and as having rights that were entitled to a little consideration—even if they did happen to demur to the election of your pet Senator, or were foolish enough to believe that they had a right to express a preference for men at the primaries—the party would be in a much healthier condition than it is. But, instead of this, every step you have taken of late has increased the dissatisfaction and has driven men from the party. (I don't drive worth a cent.) Flushed with success, maddened with victory—a most shameful victory, too—you repaired to Reed's Opera House, in Salem, and put upon the rostrum a man upon whom Providence has seen fit to bestow a vast amount of tongue at the expense of brain, to tell the crowd that certain gentlemen who had opposed your pet had gone to "Portland and hunted their holes, and had pulled their holes in after them." Not satisfied with that, but still reveling in your evanescent glory, you repaired to Portland to give your favorite Senator an opportunity to insult and abuse those who dared to raise their voice against his election, and deliver a homily on the honesty and purity of your faction, and with uplifted hands and with mock solemnity said, "we must put down corruption."

These are a few of the reasons why there are so many dissatisfied Republicans. I know well their temper and feelings all over this State. The plain, unsophisticated farmers are finding fault at the course pursued by that little thing you insist on calling the Republican party. When the Government was struggling for existence there was no difficulty in rallying the party. It was only necessary to know that the candidate would vote to sustain the Government. But the danger is not imminent now, and you will find that until your faction purges itself a little and labors for the triumph of Republican principles rather than the interests of a few bad men the masses will not respond to party call. And although you and I and others who in former times walked hand in hand, proud of our party and the great living principles it espoused, should lay aside all personal considerations and appeal to the old Republicans to rally once more around the dear old Republican banner, they will point to you, to your pet Senator, to the "ring," and will ask if that is all, if that is the party. The news from Lightning Creek is encouraging. "The Spruce Company have struck a prospect of an ounce to the bucket, and it is thought that it will be one of the best paying claims of Lightning Creek."

The Mainland Guardian says the Chilliwhack settlement is becoming a favorite locality for new settlers, and quite a number went up by the last boat. There are several families expected out to go up there also.

Mr R. C. Coleman, late of Comox, but for some time resident at Burrard Inlet, was drowned near Hastings Mill, on Tuesday evening, the 5th inst., while bathing. The body was found floating, face downwards, in about five feet of water, near the beach.

On Saturday last the handsome little steamer built by M. J. Rodgers, of Burrard Inlet, was successfully launched. As the little craft glided into the water Miss Maggie Rodgers, eldest daughter of the proprietor, broke a bottle of wine over the bow, naming her the Maggie Rodgers. This is said to be the first vessel built at the Inlet and the first under the Dominion flag on the Pacific.

The Eugene Guard has the tallest oats yet, and says the stalks measure ten feet four inches in hight.

The McKenzie warehouse, at Eugene, is rapidly approaching completion—the carpenters being busy putting on the roof.

The sheriff of Jackson county has collected $40,000 of the county tax, and reports only a few hundred dollars delinquent.

Circuit Court for Clatsop county will convene to-morrow (Tuesday). There are fifteen civil and five criminal cases on the docket.

Mr. Thomas Ollivant, of Ten Mile, Douglas county, had his hand severely hurt by the upsetting of a header wagon, one day last week.

Rev. C. W. Todd succeeded in getting subscriptions enough to release the Ten Mile Church, in Douglas county, recently, from debt.

The dwelling house of N. Kennedy, on the McKenzie, was entered last week and $112 in currency, a watch, gun, and some other articles stolen.

The Coos bay wagon road has been repaired, and is now in good condition. The stages are now able to make the trip from Roseburg to the bay in a day and a half.

Coos county pays $1,553 62 for the support of paupers and indigent sick, while the schools are kept up at a cost of $1,156, thus making the former cost more than the latter by $397 62.

The Baker City Democrat says: "New settlers are coming into our county and city quite rapidly; some from Webfoot and other portions of the Pacific coast, and others from the East."

The crops in Baker county look better this year than they have for a number of years. Harvest will be about two weeks later than common. Farmers are now in the midst of their haying.

The Washington County Republican Central Committee will meet at the Court House, in the town of Hillsboro, August 12, 1873, at 1 o'clock P. M. A full attendance is desired—if not more so.

On Tuesday of last week Thomas Bell, of Eugene, was arrested on complaint of Scott McMurray, who charged him with stealing a purse containing $150. On examination before Justice Holland he was bound over to await the action of the grand jury.

On Tuesday of last week at Gardiner, Capt. McKellop, of the schooner Enterprise, recently stranded near that place, while at work on the wreck, had the misfortune to have his leg broken in two places. He was soon taken to Empire City for medical aid, and is now doing as well as can be hoped.

The mail route from Jacksonville to Eagle Point has been altered so as to embrace the new Postoffices of Sam's Valley and Brownsborough. J. W. Hays and John Bilger are Postmasters respectively. The contract for carrying the mail over this route has been awarded to Kubli & Wilson, and the first trip will be made this week.

On Saturday of last week, Wm. Parrott, son of M. Parrott, of Roseburg, met with a severe accident. It seems he was riding a wild horse, and having occasion to get off he became entangled in the halter rope, the horse taking fright before the boy was safely upon the ground. In this position he was dragged several yards, sustaining severe injuries, which, for a time were considered fatal.

Col. Saxe has disposed of five of his Short Horns, leaving him only two on hand; and he thinks he has buyers in sight for those. He has received his flock of pure Cotswold bucks, and has sold four of them to Kinney & Sons, of Salem, at $85 each, and persons near there wish to get the remainder. Considering the "times and the seasons," Col. Saxe has been very successful in finding purchasers.

The Mountaineer of last Saturday says: Hon. Thomas Harris, ex-Mayor of the city of Victoria, B. C., arrived here on Monday and took rooms at the New Umatilla House. Mr. Harris is the largest man that has ever visited this city—weighing 407 pounds. He left on Tuesday morning in company with Messrs. Marsh French and J. M. Bird for Yakima valley, where he expects to buy a band of horses. He is a contractor on the Dominion railroad across the continent.

A letter from Weston, Umatilla, says: "On the 28th of July two hundred and fifty U. S. infantry, under the command of Col. Mason, arrived here and encamped near the school house. They were weary and foot-sore after their long march from the lava beds. They rested here from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until about four next morning. It being vacation they were, by the kindness of the Directors, allowed the use of the school room for the purpose of writing: and it was pleasing to see so many of these hardy sons of Mars embracing so favorable an opportunity of writing letters, perhaps, to the 'dear ones at home.'"

The Deer Lodge Independent (Montana) of July 26th, has the following notice of a Corvallisite: Mr B. R. Biddle, of Corvallis, Oregon, gave us a call this week. Mr. B. was in California in 1849, returned to the East and brought his family to Oregon and settled in the Wallamet valley in 1852. He visits Montana on a tour of observation, having come by the Mullen road. He says the road is in a bad traveling condition, and he expresses surprise that the people of Oregon and Montana should have remained so long indifferent to the necessity of a good wagon road from Montana to the Pacific coast. He will return via the Lou Lou Fork.

The Farmer has been shown by Mr. J. H. Smith, who lives near Salem, specimens of wheat, ordinary club, raised by him in rows, and cultivated as he did the potatoes adjoining it. The drills were two feet apart and the grain was well tended, showing as a result single roots with 34 heads. He also shows, for comparison a specimen of broadcast wheat of same variety, containing six heads of much less average size. The drilled wheat contains the more heads to the same space of ground, and most double the yield. It would be an interesting experiment to cultivate a whole acre of wheat in the best manner, and test the value of broadcast sowing and well cultivated drills.

We learn that the way in which the convict Russell was captured in Yamhill county last week, evinced some pretty sharp practice. The Statesman says: "Immediately upon the escape of the convict two of the guards were detailed from the prison to hunt up the man and bring him back, in which case, we suppose, as those gentlemen were working for the State, no reward would be given, and $200 would be saved to the State—that is, in case the prisoner was captured by them. They had tracked their victim to Yamhill county, from which place he was sent, and finally by persistent watching and following, they at last bagged their man and corralled him in an old barn belonging to an uncle of the convict. Russell, finding he was about to be recaptured, sent a little boy of his uncle's into the house to inform his uncle of his close proximity, and requesting his immediate presence. The uncle came, and Russell said to him that he was about to be caught, and remarked to him: 'You can just as well get that $200 offered by the State as not, and as I am sure to be caught, you just capture me and take me back.' This was done; the guards were by some means outwitted, their prey slipped through their fingers, and crest-fallen they returned to Salem, only to find their prisoner safe in jail, and his uncle on his way joyfully homeward with $200 of the State's money safe in his pocket."

Gus. Lyttle, the man charged with the murder of the Indian at Steilacoom on Monday of last week was apprehended Wednesday, in the country a short distance back of Steilacoom.

The Astorian says: We learn from T. W. Winship, of the U. S. lighthouse [illegible] Shubrick, that all lights in the Thirteenth District are to be furnished with the Funk 'float' lamps at an early date.

A musical Society was organized at Oysterville on Monday evening of last week, with about thirty members. Hon. Miles Standish Griswold was chosen President; Mrs. [illegible] Crellin Vice President; Wm. I. [illegible], Secretary; and F. C. Davis Treasurer.

The Olympia Courier says: A gentleman just up from below informs us that a party of five men laid their plans a few days ago to capture the paymaster on the railroad line, but their designs were discovered, and now the authorities are looking for them [illegible] with a view to "putting them where they'll do the [illegible]."

Some time since the military reservation at Walla Walla was declared [illegible] and a survey was directed so that it could be sold. The plat and notes of the survey have just been sent to the Department and now [illegible] an order from Washington announcing that the tract has [illegible] been reserved for use as a military post, in compliance with a [illegible] from the Secretary of War.

Mr. Wells, of Walla Walla, writes [illegible] Morris, of this city, under date of July 31st: "Our dwelling house burned down [illegible] afternoon. FIRE AT WALLA WALLA

Through the courtesy of the O. S. N. Co. we are in receipt of the following dispatch over the Company's wires:

WALLA WALLA, August 10.—A fire broke out at 8 P. M. yesterday, and burned one block, occupied principally by [illegible], owned by the following: Hunt & Graham, George Ruckle and J. C. Colley. The fire started in a small stable in the rear of [illegible]'s blacksmith shop. Fortunately the wind turned at the commencement of the fire and blew down the street, or the whole upper part of the town would have gone. It was the work of an incendiary. A man was seen by a lady lighting a match and starting the fire. Two horses were burned to [illegible].

THE WEIGHTIER MATTERS

While we are talking [illegible] politics in the party sense—of Credit Mobilier and back pay and [illegible] —can't think of anything else that politicians talk [illegible] —why would it not be well to think of the actual needs of the State. The people of Oregon have interests to be looked after that ought to be considered paramount to any squabble between politicians for place and power. The rivers and harbors of the State need attention. The navigation of our streams is of the first importance to the prosperity of our country. There are various streams in the State that might by the expenditure of reasonable sums of money by the General Government be made highways for the transportation of vast amounts of the products of the State. Transportation is the great subject of discussion throughout the Atlantic and Mississippi Valley States, and is the one problem upon whose solution more than upon any other single thing depends the welfare of any agricultural community such as this of Oregon. The opening of the Wallamet river to free navigation by the construction of the locks at the falls has done more for the farmers within reach of the navigable portions of this stream than any event in the past ten years. The opening of any stream into a rich producing district will always prove of the greatest advantage to the producing population of that district. Railways are a benefit to the country and should not be discouraged. But they cannot compete with water transportation in the carrying of freight. There is too much expense involved in their construction and operation. Five miles of railway cost as much as a line of good freight boats sufficient to carry the produce of the State. So the demand for cheap freights is a demand for open rivers.

The Congressman we are to elect soon ought to be a person who would work for this and similar interests. The Wallamet river could be made navigable the year round to Albany, Corvallis or even Harrisburg, for a sum which, in comparison with the benefits it would confer upon the people of the Valley would be very trifling. And with no great sum it can be so improved, that for a large part of the year boats can reach Eugene City. There is water enough in the river all the year if it were properly economized to make its navigation easy. With the annual expenditure of $50,000 for a few years, boats would be enabled to go to Eugene every day in the year. Of this we are assured by persons who have made estimates with some care. There are other streams of minor importance, but yet by no means unimportant, that only want a little work judiciously and prudently done. Such are the Yamhill, the Santiam, Luckiamute, and Long Tom, affluents of the Wallamet, and the Umpqua, Coquille, and others that fall into the sea.

The securing of appropriations to improve the navigation of these streams is a matter of greater moment than almost any other that can come before Congress, excepting always measures to assist the building of a railway line direct to the East, which we regard as hopeless at present. While we cling to our political alliances, which do not signify much under the present state of party issues, let us not forget those matters that vitally affect the welfare of the country and all its people.

THE KU KLUX LETTERS AND THE FIRE

Various theories are advanced in regard to the origin of the Ku Klux letters that have been sent of late to persons in the city employing Chinese labor. Some say these threatening missives are issued in pursuance of a well settled and agreed plan of operations, and that it is the purpose of the persons sending them to carry their threats into execution. Others think there is no organization at the bottom of the matter, but that they are sent by evil disposed individuals, on their own responsibility, and that the mention of a league of twenty-eight persons is a mere scarecrow. And others still are of opinion that the sending of these letters is the work of young imps who take this method of alarming people, in order to get jobs of watching the threatened premises. We have heard it asserted that in almost every instance soon after one of these letters has been received at a house, one of this class of persons has offered his services to watch the premises for a reasonable compensation.

We are hardly prepared to adopt the theory last stated, but we think it quite improbable that these missives emanate from any organization of twenty-eight persons. The three specimens we have seen were all written by different persons. The chirography of each was so unlike that of either of the others as to preclude the idea of mere disguise, so there are several different persons engaged in the affair, but it most is likely they are acting together only to the extent of being cognizant of each other's performances. It seems to be very generally conceded that the great fire of the 2d instant was the work of an incendiary, and as these letters had begun to circulate a week or two before this conflagration occurred, it is natural to connect the two events together. The incendiary fire at Walla Walla, which is reported this morning, in all probability had a similar origin.

Whatever may be said there is certainly occasion for the exercise of care on the part of our citizens, and for a thorough investigation by the police. The sending of threatening letters is itself a crime, and the perpetrators should be ferreted out and brought to justice. It would be well also if some considerable reward were offered for the apprehension and conviction of the incendiaries who set fire to the city on the 2d. With the clue that these letters might furnish and the stimulus of a good round reward, it is possible the culprits would be discovered. Certainly there could be no better investment of money than in paying to have these villains sent to the State Prison.

The Statesman and Mercury of Salem both speak approvingly of the course of Mayor Hoffman in regard to the relief of the sufferers of the fire.

DEMOCRATIC CENTRAL COMMITTEE MEETING.

The Democratic State Central Committee met at Portland last Saturday and called a State Convention to nominate a candidate for member of Congress to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. G. Wilson. Tuesday the 9th of September was fixed upon as the time, and Portland the place for holding the Convention, the primaries to be held on the 2d of August and the County Conventions on the [illegible]. This brings their primaries and County Conventions on the same day as those of the Republicans, and their State Convention two days earlier than ours. The apportionment of delegates gives Benton county 6 delegates; Baker [illegible]; Clackamas [illegible]; Columbia [illegible]; Clatsop 2; Curry 1; [illegible] Douglas [illegible]; Grant [illegible]; Jackson 9; Josephine 2; Linn [illegible]; Lane [illegible]; Marion 10; Multnomah 12; Polk 6; Tillamook 1; Umatilla 6; Union [illegible]; Wasco [illegible]; Washington [illegible]; Yamhill [illegible]. Total 124. This convention will be considerably larger than the Republican. Eighteen counties were informed were represented at the meeting of the Committee.

The Democratic party of Oregon are disposed to resent the parting gun of Dr. J. A. Chapman, late Chairman of their State Central Committee. At least we should infer such is the case if the feelings of the party are faithfully reflected in the action of the Central Committee at its meeting in this city last Saturday. Here is a resolution which they sent after the doctor:

Resolved, That the resignation by J. A. Chapman of the Chairmanship of the Democratic State Central Committee of Oregon was only an anticipation on his part of the expulsion that awaited him upon the meeting of this Committee, and that we congratulate the Democracy of this State upon the fact that this Committee is relieved of the necessity of associating with any one owing allegiance to the Know-Nothing [illegible] party of Oregon.

It may be that this will hurt the doctor immensely, but we must be allowed to doubt it till we see the wounds.

A few days since says a Rome dispatch, the Pope in receiving a number of newly nominated Bishops referred to the conflict of the ecclesiastical authorities in Brazil with Freemasonry, and said that Freemasons are liable to excommunication the same as other members of secret societies notwithstanding the charitable objects of their organization. From this declaration of doctrine it is to be inferred that the Catholic members of all secret societies have their portion in the damnatory clause. The order of the Patrons of Husbandry must be included in the Holy Father's fulmination.

He must be a skilled physician who shall prescribe a sovereign remedy for Louisiana's terrible disorder. The ulcer has broken out afresh. A few days since the Conservatives (opponents of the Kellogg government) captured the town of Colfax and threatened to renew the horrid scenes of last May. Bloodshed was prevented by the intervention of the military. Advices from New Orleans state that great excitement prevails in that city. Two companies of infantry have left for Colfax, and it is hoped their presence will cause a cessation of all troubles.

We learn that M. Baker, Esq., of Union county is quite generally mentioned in the Eastern part of the State as a suitable candidate for Congress. He is a man of fine talent and practical sense, unusual energy of character and a thorough acquaintance with the interests of the State. There is no man in the country who would be more acceptable to a large portion of the party, and we question whether there is one who would be displeasing to a less number.

The following is the ticket nominated by the Ohio Democratic State Convention: For Governor, William Allen; for Lieutenant Governor, B. Burns, of Richland; Supreme Judge, long term, H. C. Whitman, of Hamilton; short term, Charles H. Scribner, of Lucas; Attorney General, M. A. Dougherty, of Franklin; Treasurer, George Weimer, of Summit; Controller, J. K. Newcomer, of Marion; member of the Board of Public Works, Christian Schenck, of Mercer.

The promptness and energy with which many whose buildings were destroyed in the great fire are going to work to rebuild is illustrative of the character of the citizens of Portland. They are not a "fast" people and do not take to speculations as some others do, but they are a self reliant sturdy people, who purpose to retrieve their fortunes by patient and persistent exertion.

The fire at Portland, Maine, reported this morning, is one of the most destructive that have visited the Atlantic cities for a long time, nothing to compare with Boston and Chicago to be sure, but a great conflagration nevertheless. Thus both the two Portlands suffer together.

The lime used in the State University building is brought from Umpqua. It is pronounced a fair quality of lime, not quite so good as the Santa Cruz article, but good for all the purposes of dry masonry.

The New York Times of June 30th says of it: The Portland OREGONIAN, one of our most useful exchanges from that distant State, appeared in a new and handsome dress on the 19th inst.

John Hipple has applied to the Court at Portland, Oregon, for a legal change of name to J. H. Mitchell. The Oregon Senator would have shown a little more wisdom if he had attended to that trifling matter some time ago.—St. Louis Times.

Insure against Loss by Fire in the

Phœnix of Hartford,

BECAUSE:

FIRST—IT HAS COMPLIED FULLY WITH THE Oregon State Law.
SECOND—Its contracts in Oregon are backed under a reinsurance contract, by its own and the capital assets of the Home Ins. Co. of New York and the North British and Mercantile Ins. Company of London, aggregating over $44,000,000 00, gold, offering the best security of any Fire Insurance Company or Association in the world.
THIRD—It can carry large risks, as its policies are reinsured by the above mentioned Companies so that the PHŒNIX alone can carry the same that all three companies would take separately.
FOURTH—It requires but one set of proofs in case of loss, thus giving the security of three companies without the trouble of dealing with separate corporations.
On these solid merits, viz: Capacity to carry the largest risks, the amplest possible security, the simplest adjustment in case of loss, and the prompt and equitable payment of all just claims,

The Phœnix Insurance Company solicits your Patronage.

MONDAY MORNING, AUGUST 11, 187[illegible]

CITY.

To the Summit.—Five young [illegible] started [illegible] Monday morning from this city bound for the summit of Mount Hood. The party was composed of the following persons: [illegible] Robinson, Chas. Holder, Henry [illegible] and [illegible] Hicks. On Wednesday evening the [illegible] of the mountain was reached. Here the party halted for the night. After passing a [illegible] night the party arose early on Thursday morning and partaking of a hurried breakfast started for the summit. Two of the party, Robinson and Tracy—after traveling [illegible] miles up the side of the mountain [illegible] the rest of the company and returned to the camp. The rest of the party—Messrs. Holder, Hicks and [illegible]—continued to struggle through the [illegible] and up the [illegible] hours [illegible] at length stood on the highest point of Mount Hood. The party [illegible] time on the summit, but had sufficient time to take a good look at the [illegible] which stretch [illegible] in all directions. On looking around they discovered abundant traces of others who had previously visited the summit. Such traces consisted [illegible] dates rudely scratched in the rocks or [illegible] pieces of paper which were deposited in [illegible] out of the reach of the elements. The following are a few [illegible] who had arrived at the summit and left their names, dates and mementoes: S. Stafford, August [illegible] 1871; F. D. Wilmott, August 17 1871, deposited a copy of the Walla Walla [illegible]; Miss Mary E. McShea, August [illegible] 1871; M. S. [illegible] Case, July 1867 (deposited a piece of [illegible]); Prof. R. W. Laing, August 11 1871, deposited an Oregonian; Prof. L. W. Pratt, July 7 1871 (left a New York [illegible]); James Henderson, August 19 1871; a party of printers from the Herald office, August 19 1872; O. H. Stott and P. A. Vickers, August 17 1871; Rev. Isaac Dillon and party, July 30 1873. A considerable number of coins of various denominations and many of which are of unique design and not in circulation at the present time were found. These coins had been deposited by many who had visited the summit at various times. The collection is already quite large and additions are being made to it every year. The piercing wind which swept up from the snow fields soon reminded the party that it was time to descend to the camp. Two hours and a half were required for the party to reach camp, which was done in safety. Friday morning the party started homeward and reached this city on Saturday afternoon worn out and fatigued, but well satisfied with their trip.

Pitched Out.—Quite an amusing episode transpired last Saturday on Washington street near Fourth. Near the intersection of these streets stands a carpenter shop. The building is two stories high. Down stairs a carpenter plies his vocation, and up stairs he lives. Some Chinamen who had doubtless been rendered homeless by the fearful holocaust of the 2d, passed by, and on perceiving that the carpenter shop to all intents was empty and tenantless—the proprietor at the time being absent—they conceived the idea of taking up temporary quarters therein. It was the work of not more than half an hour to transfer all their goods and chattels to the lower story of the shop, which they proceeded unhesitatingly to do. Judge of the surprise and indignation of the carpenter when he returned to his domicil, to find his castle encumbered with heathen goods, which were so piled up on all sides as to seriously obstruct egress and ingress. With one glance he took in the situation and proceeded to act as the nature of the emergency demanded. He fell on those goods like a thousand of brick, and the way in which pots, pans, kettles, blankets, mats, bowls, and other articles of Chinese household goods, were rained out on the sidewalk was a caution to average snakes. Just about the time the irate knight of the saw and plane had completed the work, and issued from the shop panting and wiping the perspiration from his brow, the owners of the despoiled goods, attracted by the clatter, came hurriedly around the corner to defend their property. The meeting between the Celestials and the injured carpenter was a stormy one, but after a long war of words the Chinamen gathered up their effects and moved away sadly impressed with the belief that "possession is nine points of the law."

Squared Accounts.—The following joke connected with the late fire, which by the way is both a serious and practical one, has just reached us. A certain countryman who peddles vegetables in this city had the misfortune to lose all his accounts in the fire of the 2d inst. For some time he has been engaged in the business of vending vegetables. He never kept books of any kind. Double or single entry he was wholly ignorant of and alike scorned. His debits and credits were committed to a surface far more substantial than paper. The inside of the building where he carried on business, subserved the purposes of blotter, daybook, journal and ledger. The sides of the room, the door, and even the ceiling overhead were marked over with the names of those who the vegetableman had credited. It is true that he did not strictly confine himself to any of the acknowledged rules of bookkeeping, but for all that the accounts were kept honestly. Not only was wood substituted for paper, but the vegetable man enjoyed the conscious security that no one but himself could ever hope to successfully decipher those hieroglyphics. When the great fire swept over the city our vegetable man was engulphed in the fiery vortex. So rapidly did the flames advance that before a moiety of his stock was secured the building took fire. It was then too late to copy his accounts and as they could not be removed to a place of security all were destroyed. Of course the fire has settled all his accounts. As he was transacting business on a limited scale, the loss is light. A salutary lesson will no doubt be taught him.

Passengers on the Way.—The steamer Oriflamme sailed for this port on last Saturday with the following passengers: Hon. J. K. Kelly, Mrs. J. G. Wilson and four children, Wm. Kapus, W. Thompson, Mrs. [illegible] Stewart and child, Wm. Weil, G. N. Parker, H. Miller, Mrs. P. A. Nottridge, Z. E. Rumer, Edwin Russell, P. Mancet and two sons, Mrs. [illegible] and child, Mrs. F. Gardner, C. H. Schmitt, M. [illegible] Kinney, F. C. Kemble, J. H. Rines, J. A. Black, R. G. Heads, F. R. Geary, M. Dyper, Mrs. J. Loomis, Z. B. Sturges, [illegible], Mrs. S. F. McKean and child, [illegible] Crows and wife, J. Bernardy, Mrs. John Avery, Mrs. [illegible] Bowers, T. Dittenhoffer, W. Kiltridge, [illegible] N. McLeod, Lieut. Hein, [illegible] and wife.

Duly Installed.—At a regular meeting of Multnomah Lodge No. 12, I. O. G. T., held Saturday evening, August 9 1873, the following officers were duly installed by W. H. Moore, acting as G. W. C. T., for the ensuing term commencing August 1 1873 and ending October 31 1873: A. G. Walling, W. C. T.; Miss Irene Quivey, W. R. H. S.; Mrs. Hovey, W. L. H. S.; Miss Nelly Jerry, W. V. T.; Emil Bonus, W. R. S.; Miss Alvira Fisher, W. A. S.; G. F. Watkins, W. F. S.; Miss Lizzie Terry, W. [illegible]; A. P. Winsett, W. M.; Miss Comma Franklin, W. [illegible]; [illegible] D. Jones, W. [illegible]; G. Rev. [illegible], W. [illegible]; James Cumming, P. W. C. T.; J. B. Garrison, [illegible]. Evenings of meeting, Saturday.

On the Track.—Some dastardly wretch placed a large rail on the west side track yesterday near the summit just [illegible] a sharp curve in the road. The train dashed [illegible] the curve at a flying speed and was almost [illegible] the obstruction before the engineer perceived the danger. Fortunately the rail was [illegible] enough to catch the tender. [illegible] was sent spinning about twenty [illegible] and landed several rods [illegible] track. No harm done.

Mission Chapel.—The [illegible] says: The first service [illegible] the [illegible] chapel at the corner of Caruthers and First streets was held on Sunday evening by the Bishop and Rev. John Rosenberg. The congregation numbered about sixty persons. Much interest was expressed in the effort to supply public religious services in that part of the city. A Sunday School will be started on the first Sunday in September.

Departed.—The steamer Shubrick which has been lying in the stream for several days went down the river yesterday morning. She will touch at Astoria, remain a few days and then proceed up to the Sound to deliver the annual supplies at the various light houses and fog whistles along the coast.

Schools.—St. Helen's Hall and the [illegible] Scott Grammar School will open the Christmas term on Monday, September 1st. The corps of teachers at St. Helen's Hall will remain the same as last year. At the Grammar School the Rev. [illegible] will take the place of Senior Master, and William M. Barker of the University of Pennsylvania the place of Junior Master.

Good Cattle.—A band of 200 head of cattle arrived in the city on Friday evening from Willow creek. These cattle were not shipped via Columbia, but were driven the whole distance, coming over the Cascades by the Barlow road. They arrived in excellent condition. The drove belongs to Messrs. Spaulding & Edmiston and Mr. Baxter, and are intended to supply the meat market of this city.

Congregational Association.—We have received the minutes of the annual meeting of the Congregational Association of Oregon, which was held at The Dalles, commencing on the 19th of June and ending on the 22d. It is a neatly printed pamphlet of [illegible] pages. The work was done by E. M. Waite of Salem.

Excursion.—We learn that a moonlight excursion will be given this evening under the auspices of the Vancouver Library Association. The steamer Onatta has been chartered for the occasion. Two large scows will be attached to the steamer for dancing purposes. A very pleasant time is anticipated.

Annual Convocation.—The annual convocation of the Episcopal Church for the Diocese of Oregon and Washington Territory will convene at the new Trinity church in this city on the 28th. The opening service of the convocation will be held on Thursday evening.

Arrived.—The steamer Gussie Telfair arrived on Saturday evening from Sound Ports with a full cargo of assorted freight. She will take the place of the California on the Sitka route and will sail for that port in a few days. The California will be tied up for the present.

Meetings.—Two meetings will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. One by the Relief Committee at the office of Ladd & Tilton, and the other by the sufferers from the late fire at the Court House. A full attendance is desired at both meetings.

Ready for Sea.—Both the ships Middlesex and Confidence were at Astoria at last accounts ready for sea. Want of crews had detained the vessels for some days. However the crew for the Middlesex had been obtained and that ship was to have sailed for her destination on Saturday morning.

Lieut. Maury.—The English bark Lieut. Maury arrived yesterday in tow of the tug Merrimac from Astoria. This bark came direct from San Francisco in ballast. She is under charter to the firm of Ladd [illegible] to carry to Europe a load of grain. In a few days the vessel will commence to load with wheat.

Postponed.—The assignee sale of the [illegible] material which was to have taken place on last Saturday afternoon, has been postponed by order of the Assignee until Wednesday, 20th inst.

Will be Consecrated.—Trinity church will be consecrated to the service of Almighty God on Thursday, August 28th.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

First and second nines of the Pioneer club play next Saturday, provided the weather clerk don't offer any objections.

The game of base ball played on Saturday proved to be a regular farce. The nines were composed of members from the Pacific, Atlantic and Crescent clubs. The score kept increasing so much that we concluded not to keep it.

The Salem Mercury wishes it understood that the championship is not decided until the third game is played between the College and Pioneer clubs. Correct, and the Pioneer boys are aware of it. They are waiting for a communication on the subject from the College club.

There will be a special meeting of the Pioneer base ball club this evening at their rooms in Buchtel & Stolte's gallery, to consider the propriety of getting up a base ball tournament. This is only an initial movement in that direction and will undoubtedly prove an attractive amusement. The tournament will take place at any place a majority of base-ballists shall vote upon, and in all probability Salem will be the point, but we are a little too premature to say anything definite. To-morrow we will give the proceedings of the meeting, which will afford information in the matter. A full attendance is desired.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Coming and going—seasiders.

Coffee for everybody at Fabre's.

Ordinance due to-morrow evening.

Get vaccinated—an ounce of caution, etc.

Circus coming—all the little boys will be happy.

The Onatta took a crowd of excursionists over to Vancouver yesterday.

The Salem express on Saturday evening was crowded to excess with passengers.

A great many persons were out looking at the burned district Saturday evening and yesterday.

Madame Anna Bishop and troupe are in Victoria, and may come this way after concluding their engagement at that place.

There will be a meeting of those interested in getting up a concert in aid of the sufferers by the fire, at Gray's music store this evening.

A pistol shot a few evenings since in the vicinity of the Court of Death created quite an excitement. Several hundred persons collected and the block was carefully searched by the police, but nothing could be gleaned of the matter.

PERSONAL.

Mr. T. R. Dwyer, agent for Babcock's Fire Extinguisher and Hyde's Water Power Attachment, is now in the city. He gave us a call yesterday.

The S. F. Chronicle of the 6th says: Peace Commissioner A. B. Meacham, of Modoc fame, arrived in town last night and wigwamed at the Russ House.

Major Robert went down the river yesterday morning on the [illegible] to attend a meeting of the Light House Board which will be held there to-day.

Among the passengers on board the steamer Oriflamme, now on the way hither, we observe the names of Senator J. K. Kelly, Mrs. Joseph Wilson, Wm. Kapus, Edwin Russell and Rev. J. R. Geary.

FINALLY DECIDED.

It is an old but true saying that a man is known by the books he reads and the company he keeps. This saying is illustrative of the great sewing machine war, in which nearly all the second class machines have played a prominent part, expending much ammunition and making forced marches attended with great loss. But our readers have [illegible] the name of the world renowned Grover & Baker Sewing Machine flourished before the people in the above connection, and that [illegible] has established the popularity of the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine now and forever. It stands on its respective [illegible] and merits. These machines make the Elastic Stitch and Shuttle Stitch, and will [illegible] $10 per month. W. [illegible] at 71 First street.

Hungren & Shindler have re-opened their furniture warehouse [illegible] where they will operate till a permanent business [illegible]. COOS BAY ITEMS.

Our regular correspondent [illegible] August 6th:

Shipment of lumber since the 20th ult. 986 M feet [illegible].

The expenditures of Coos county for the year ending July 16, 1873, have been $11,178.30.

The bath house is becoming a favorite resort for the young people, and all who visit it report a pleasant experience.

The United States steamer Shubrick stopped in here last week and will call again in about six weeks for the purpose of placing buoys at the entrance to the harbor.

William Thompson of the Salem Mercury and Frank Johnson and wife (late Mrs. Dr. Lorveal) sailed from this port last Saturday on the Eastport for San Francisco. The latter think of returning to engage in hotel keeping.

The arrivals for the week ending this day were the schooners [illegible] and [illegible], and United States steamer Shubrick; sailed, barkentine [illegible], schooners [illegible], and [illegible] steamers Eastport and Shubrick.

Howard Bros.' Museum and Menagerie and the Metropolitan Troupe gave performances here last week. They are both inferior institutions and will have poor prospects of gaining a livelihood in their business. The former have gone to Roseburg to join Wilson's Circus, and the latter give a performance at Gardiner City this evening.

DICKENS' "EDWIN DROOD."

Springfield papers revive the story of the young man in Brattleboro, Vt., who is finishing Dickens' story "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." The Union, in fact, recently devoted nearly eight columns to the matter, and asserts that the work is not only nearly completed, but that a new novel by Dickens is to be forthcoming from the same source—an amanuensis, a medium, if you will, but an unprofessional one, and a person who knew nothing whatever about spiritualism until this strange experience befell him, who has no theories to advance or proselytes to make, and who cares not a fig apparently whether spiritualism stand or fall." He is described as "a good looking man, a machinist, not far from thirty years of age, a native of Boston, with no training whatever for literary work." The Union writer proceeds to give a long history of the way in which he came to undertake the work, follows it up with extracts from several chapters of the forthcoming volume and concludes with the following:

"I came to Brattleboro expecting to find this decidedly posthumous work a bubble which could be easily blown away. After two days careful and somewhat critical examination I go away, I confess, a good deal puzzled. I reject in the first place as an impossibility—as every one would do after thoroughly investigating the matter—the theory that this manuscript was written by the young man Mr. A. He says he has never read the first volume, and I care not whether he has or no, being fully convinced that he is not capable of writing so much as one page of the second volume. This of course is no disparagement, for how many men are capable of doing what Dickens left undone? I am driven then to accept one of the two conclusions. Either some man of genius is using this individual as a go between in order to place an extraordinary work before the public in an extraordinary way, or the book is, as it professes to be, dictated by Dickens himself from the other world. The one supposition is scarcely more astounding than the other. If there is in Vermont a man heretofore unheard of who is able to write as Dickens wrote, he surely has no cause to resort to any such device as this. If on the other hand Charles Dickens himself, though dead, yet speaketh, what shall we next expect? It is but fair to say that, with the fullest opportunity for investigation, I found not the least evidence on any hand of fraud, while the name of the 'amanuensis,' were I allowed to give it, would dispel any suggestion of that kind from the minds of every citizen of this place who knows him."

Jean A. Lane's Luck.—A Texas paper reports that recently a Mr. Jean A. Lane telegraphed another Jean A. Lane in Sherman, Texas, to meet him on a certain day in Galesburg, Ill., and it proceeds to tell the following story: Jean A. Lane No. 1 was informed by the banker at Sherman that through a New York banking house he was authorized to draw on a London house for almost any amount of money. Jean A. Lane protested that he knew nothing of the matter, that he was not aware any rich relatives or other persons had placed to his credit in London any sums of money, great or small. The Sherman banker informed him that he must be the man, that he knew him to be Jean A. Lane. Whereupon Jean A. Lane proceeded to draw in his own favor $10,000, and in favor of his brothers and brother-in-law $30,000, making in all $40,000. The drafts were honored and $40,000 in gold were paid thereon. In a few days Jean A. Lane No. 2 turned up. Jean A. Lane then telegraphed to No. 2 to meet him, and he turned over to him $40,000, he having protested from the start that he did not think he was the genuine Jean.

The subscription of $50,000 for the erection of a second Theological Hall for the Divinity School of Yale College, towards which the friends of the Seminary recently subscribed on condition that the remainder was raised by the 1st of August, has been completed by the Professors becoming responsible for the sum still wanting, amounting to about $6000. The building will be commenced at an early date and is expected to be ready for occupation in September.

Daniel Whelton, a convict in the Massachusetts State Prison, attacked John F. Chamberlain, the Warden, a week ago, striking him on the head and cutting a severe gash. The Warden drew a pistol and shot Whelton, the ball taking effect in his left leg. The prisoner seized a shovel and renewed the attack, when Chamberlain fired another shot, the ball striking the shovel and glancing off. The convict was seized and held until the arrival of officers and taken to the hospital, where his wound was dressed.

A Lowell (Mass.) dispatch of August 6th says: The Labor Reform State Convention held here was thinly attended. Judge Robert Cowley of Lowell was chosen Chairman. In the course of his address he said, after defining the policy to be pursued touching the hours of labor: It will become our duty to extend our congratulations to the farmers of the West and tender them our best wishes for their success in their efforts to procure cheap transportation. G. E. McNeil of Cambridge presented the report of the Committee on Resolutions, which, among other things, recommends a straight out ten hour platform. It condemns Governor Washburn and the decision of Judge Hoar, while Attorney General, on the eight hour law. The right hand of fellowship is extended to the Granges. Putting Down Rebellion.

When the stomach rebels against food and obstinately refuses to digest sufficient aliment to keep the body well nourished, it can only be compelled to resume its natural duties by a wholesome tonic. The powerful alkaloids so often administered for this purpose are not wholesome. They are, for the most part, deadly poisons, and even when taken in very small quantities react violently upon the nervous system. Not so Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This salutary combination of vegetable juices, embracing the finest invigorants and alteratives which the botanical kingdom affords, operates mildly, steadily and beneficially upon the digestive, secretive and discharging organs. In dyspepsia, bilious affections, nervous complaints, periodic fevers, chronic constipation, bodily weakness, mental depression, languor, sleeplessness, and the various disabilities incident to old age and premature decay, its effects are so wonderful that to be comprehended they must be witnessed or experienced.

LYON'S KATHAIRON

Only 50 Cents per Bottle.

It promotes the GROWTH, PRESERVES the COLOR, and increases the Vigor and BEAUTY of the HAIR.

OVER THIRTY YEARS AGO LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR was first placed in the market by Professor E. Thomas Lyon, a graduate of Princeton College. The name is derived from the Greek "Kathro," signifying to cleanse, purify, rejuvenate, or restore. The favor it has received, and the popularity it has obtained, is unprecedented and incredible. It increases the GROWTH and BEAUTY of the HAIR. It is a delightful DRESSING. It eradicates dandruff. It prevents the Hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy appearance. It is the SAME in QUANTITY and QUALITY as it was over a QUARTER of a CENTURY AGO, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only 50 Cents per Bottle.

COLEMAN'S EUCALYPTUS

Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medical qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medical utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO URINARY ORGANS and their [illegible] and cures them by its alterative healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHOEA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. Marine Hospital in San Francisco in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the prompt [illegible] hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 403 Kearny street, San Francisco.

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful yet harmless [illegible] and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our [illegible] and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with [illegible], while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical [illegible] of these diseases are entirely avoided.

English Wheat Market.

Commercial advices from [illegible] July 11th report the Wheat markets as being heavy at that date under the influence of fine weather and of dull reports from the Continent where prices had receded from the same cause During the week seven cargoes of Wheat had taken their destination for the Continent showing some demand in that direction. But cargoes arriving off the coast had to be sold at a decline of about 9d@1s ₩ qr according to quality. Encouraging advices received from the country regarding the recent progress of the crops which promised much better than had been feared after the continued unfavorable weather in the earlier part of the season together with a considerable increase in the imports, fully explain the decline in prices. For the week ending July 4th the imports of Wheat into the United Kingdom amounted to 56,399 cwt, and for the week ending the 11th they were 996 917 cwt—a gain of 240 318 cwt. The deliveries of home grown Wheat, however were less being for the week ending July 11th 29 640 qrs against 49 465 qrs for the previous week. Owing to the heavy arrivals from California, the quantity of Wheat remaining on passage from here, has been considerably reduced and the weekly arrivals at direct ports in the United Kingdom and for orders are henceforth likely to average only about 20 000 qrs against about 8 000 qrs as given in the preceding week (ending July 4th), and a portion of this particular sort of Wheat may be expected to be sent to the Continent. In the course of the week ending the 11th four cargoes of California and Chilian Wheat about 11 000 qrs, has been diverted from the British coast to the Continent.

According to the British Board of Trade returns the importation of Wheat into the United Kingdom in June amounted to 3,451,275 cwt, being an increase of 900 000 cwt, as compared with last year. The increase is due to the large importations from the United States the total of which was 1 655 441 cwt against 489,768 cwt. The import of Wheat in the first half of the year reached a total of 18 651,268 cwt being an increase of 3,000 000 as compared with 1872. The importation from Russia diminished as much as 3 500,000 cwt and from Germany about 440,000 cwt, but there was an increase of rather more than 1,000,000 cwt in the receipts from France, and of 4 150 000 cwt from the United States. The export of Wheat during the six months is returned at 203 745 cwt against 119 101 cwt

[illegible] Wool Market.

The Boston Shipping List of the 26th of July says. The receipts of domestic have been 12 430 bales against 6 781 bales for the corresponding week of 1872, and 9,268 bales in 1871. No receipts of foreign, against 1,361 bales last year.

The past has been the most active week we have had to notice since January last. Upwards of 2 000 000 lbs dom. tic have been received, and the sales have been upwards of 2,000 000 lbs so that, as far as our market is concerned stocks are not allowed to accumulate to any extent, and the new clip of the West and California continues to be taken by manufacturers about as fast as received.

In prices there is no improvement to notice. Some of the best and most responsible manufacturers have been operating during the week and receivers have been free sellers at last week's prices, in some instances submitting even to slight concessions, so that high prices in the interior and favorable advices from abroad have not as yet had any influence here. The range of Michigan Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces have been mostly from 45c@50c, the latter price for Ohio XX and above, and in a few instances as high as 51c ₩ lb was obtained for very desirable lots of the same grade. We do not, as remarked in previous reports, look for any immediate improvement. The new clip of domestic is however, passing rapidly into the hands of manufacturers. Some leading mills that were running almost exclusively on Australian last year have stocked up largely with domestic since the first of the month, and as the season advances an improvement is quite likely, but it is doubtful if the advance realized some months hence will more than pay the increased cost of storage and other expenses.

Miscellaneous.

The Eugene Journal says "Threshing has commenced at several places near town. We have heard of some fields of wheat which range from thirty to forty bushels per acre. If the price should keep up the farmers will be well fixed for hard times."

We hear of some damage to grain by the rains of Wednesday and Thursday of last week—one man in Lane county claiming that his field has been damaged to the extent of five hundred bushels.

The Seattle Coal and Transportation Company have levied an assessment of $2 per share on the increased capital stock amounting to $60 000 delinquent September 5th.

The value of the foreign Dry Goods imported at New York during the month of July, is $7 714 000, a decrease of $2,200,000 as against the corresponding month last year, and $1 100 000 less than for the same month in 1871. The operations for July however show an increase in the withdrawals from bonded warehouse and in the quantity of goods entered for consumption. The [illegible] of the goods withdrawn is given at $2,121 000 against $1 410 000 and [illegible] for the corresponding month in the two previous years, while the value of the goods entered for consumption last month is given at $4 668 000, a gain of $1,800 000 as against the same month last year though $1 000 000 less than in 1871. These figures show a healthy state of the import and interior trade. The value of the imports of Dry Goods at New York for the first seven months of the year, is $71,829,000 against $84,203 000 in 1872, and $76 .14 000 in 1871.

The third series of London sales of Colonial Wool was commenced on the 12th July. The opening rates were from ½d to ¾d higher than at the close of the May series. The present series will probably last until the 2d August when it will be followed by a sale of low grade Wools for which 216 000 bales has already been catalogued. The New York and Boston Wool markets show no particular fluctuations. At last accounts prices were steady and business fair. The San Francisco market is very quiet, and has been for a fortnight through the absence of buyers. Holders however are generally firm in asking rates especially for all first class Wools.

The season for salmon fishing has terminated on the Columbia river for this year. The run being good all establishments have [illegible] a better business than for any former period.

A Paris dispatch of the 9th inst reports that the harvest in France shows that the yield generally is only middling both as regards quality and quantity. In South France the quality of wheat is good but the crop is scarce and prices have advanced. Millers are using foreign wheat. They expect soon to experience a difficulty in running their mills in consequence of the low condition of streams caused by a continued drouth.

The Guard says there is but little wheat offering for sale in Lane county. One or two buyers from Portland are at Eugene taking [illegible] of the indications of things but this is far has [illegible] to make any offer on the new crop. It is said that a Harrisburg firm is offering 7[illegible] cents for wheat delivered at the depot in Eugene.

RUPTURE!

Remarkable Cure of an Enormous Rupture of 28 Years Standing, by the Use of Dr. Marsh's Patent Truss.

Read the following Letter from Mr. Jacob Fatz, who was cured in Nine Months.

SAN FRANCISCO June 9, 1873

MARSH'S TRUSS COMPANY—GENTS. THIS is to certify that I have worn Dr Marsh's Patent Truss for nearly nine months and have been RADICALLY CURED of a very large painful and troublesome Rupture of twenty two years standing. My Rupture equaled in size almost any child's head but now I am sound and stronger than I have been for many years and I feel perfectly safe to do any laborious or hard work. Very truly yours,

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency etc. Skin Diseases of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal [illegible] of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary on Kearney street corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until [illegible] closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR GIBBON a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for [illegible] and who is certain to cure the most inveterate [illegible] without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make inquiry or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence [illegible] in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances disposition to shun society, loss of memory hectic flushes, pimples and various [illegible] about the face furred tongue, fetid [illegible] coughs consumption night sweats monomania [illegible] frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific [illegible] of treating this disease, which never fails of [illegible] ing a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give [illegible] Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Maimed Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are laboring under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR GIBBON is responsible and will give to every patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating [illegible] symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Post office or through Wells, Fargo & Co. a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates, delude the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths shoemakers, newspaper carriers intelligence office keepers etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets. For as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles certificates pretended patients' letters, &c. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he professes to cure.

Address DR J F GIBBON 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial San Francisco. Postoffice Box 1957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN. — jy[illegible]
